

The Theatre Of Jean-Paul Sartre

by Dorothy McCall

Jean-Paul Charles Aymard Sartre (/ˈsɑːrtr/; French: [saʁtʁ]; 21 June 1905 – 15 April 1980) was a French philosopher, writer, and dramatist. He was one of the leading figures of the 20th-century French intellectual movement known as Existentialism. He was also a member of the Resistance during World War II. He is best known for his plays, which often dealt with the theme of the individual's freedom and responsibility. He was also a novelist, playwright, and philosopher. The theatre was a good way of doing this, but he also felt that the novel might also be a good way of doing this.
